(FOR ADDRESS ONLY.)

A Band of Tartars. The Tartars are a nomadic race who occasionally descend from their mountain fastnesses into the wide-lands of the Kazan steppes. Also in warm garments of lamb skin, and mounted on their strong and active ponies, they wander through the country, their disregard of the laws of property making them a standing menace to the more settled farmer. They are a dirty race, and more engaged live in huts of mud covered with a deer skin cloth.
